RUSSELL COUNTY, VA

THE HEART OF SOUTHWEST
VIRGINIA

A Great Place to Live, Work, and Play...

A Great Place to Live

Russell County has grown over the years to become home for almost 30,000 citizens who believe in a simpler more peaceful way of life. You'll seldom see snarled traffic or experience long commutes in Russell County. Our rural location offers a slower pace and lower cost of living – as well as access to some of the most pristine, undisturbed natural environments in the American Southeast. Our cost of living (87.6 index) is 12.4 percent lower than the U.S. average. The median home cost is $140,000 – approximately 47 percent lower than the median price of new homes sold in the United States.

We also have one of the lowest median property tax rates in the nation, with only 22 percent of U.S. counties having a lower rate than Russell County. The average annual property tax paid by Russell County residents is only 1.25 percent of their yearly income.

The Russell County Public School System operates 14 fully-accredited primary, elementary, middle, high, and technical schools and strives to fulfill its mission of "Excellence through Education." Area colleges and universities include SWVA Community College, VA Highlands Community College, King University, Emory & Henry College, and East Tennessee State University.

You're sure to find the right faith community for you in Russell County. There are 16 churches in Lebanon, the county seat, alone, representing at least 9 different faiths or denominations.

A Great Place to Work

Marketed as part of the seven-county e-Region in Southwest Virginia, Russell County focuses on the following strategic components of modern business – electronic information technology, energy, education and emerging technologies. Three Fortune 500 companies have operations here: AT&T Wireless, Northrop Grumman and American Electric Power.

A Great Place to Play

Popular local events include the Russell County Fair and Horseshow (Castlewood, Va.), Honaker Redbud Festival, Clinch River Days Festival (St. Paul, Va.) and our own Lebanon Independence Day Celebration.

Six community parks are nearby, and the Lake Bonaventure Golf and Country Club in Castlewood offers a 9-hole golf course, swimming and 35-acre lake for boating and fishing. Laurel Bed Lake in nearby Saltville, part of the Clinch Mountain Wildlife Area, also provides excellent trout fishing.

Our Clinch River is a popular site for boating, ranked #1 river in the country by The Nature Conservancy for environmental diversity and significance.

Other outdoor opportunities are available at the Clinch Mountain Wildlife Area, Pinnacle Natural Area Reserve, Breaks Interstate Park, Mount Rogers National Recreation Area and Natural Tunnel State Park.

We're also just a short drive to Bristol Motor Speedway (Bristol, Tenn.), which hosts two of NASCAR's most exciting stock car races each year.
